

CONFERENCE EXPLORES ASIAN AMERICAN MINISTRY

Pittsburgh Theological Seminary will host the first of three Con.Flucence Conferences June 9-11, 2010. Con.flucence is a three-year project seeking to bring together pastors, Christian educators, and lay leaders serving in the areas of education and evangelism/outreach as well as scholars from related fields to arrive at a shared vision and direction for Asian American churches.

Con.Flucence Project Director, the Rev. Dr. Timothy Son, assistant professor of Christian education and youth ministry at PTS, will lead the group in discussing how the scene of Asian-American churches is changing. They will identify these changes and what issues and concerns emerge from them.

This conference is sponsored by the Office of Asian American Leadership (PCUSA) and Pittsburgh Theological Seminary. To learn more visit www.theconfluenceproject.org or e-mail Click to view e-mail.

Pittsburgh Theological Seminary is a graduate professional institution of the Presbyterian Church (U.S.A). Founded in 1794, the Seminary is located in Pittsburgh, Pa. and approximately 320 students are enrolled yearly in the degree programs. The Seminary prepares leaders who proclaim with great joy God's message of good news in both word and deed. PTS is rooted in the Reformed history of faithfulness to Scripture and commitment to the Gospel of Jesus Christ.
