COURSE DESCRIPTION:

This course explores biblical, theological, and historical understandings of Christian mission and evangelism with a view toward practices for leading the church to discern and participate in God's mission within particular contexts.

CLASS OBJECTIVES:

- Biblical, theological, and historical resources which form and inform Christian mission and the missional congregation
- A consideration of the ways in which Christian mission interprets biblical, theological, and historical sources
- Contemporary mission practices, theologies and challenges in post-colonial and post-Christendom contexts
- Critical and constructive engagement with practices and theologies of evangelism
- Practices for leading mission and missional congregations, and leading communal missional discernment in particular
- A project which helps students to envision concrete practices of mission in a particular context
