
Hollingsworth was named one of USA Today’s Top 100 People of 2010 for her influence on pop culture and was featured in the documentary by MTV News producer/V rack Joanne Benjamin-Wagner entitled “Mister Rogers & Me.” She holds a master’s degree in counseling psychology and a bachelor’s degree in English. Amy lives in Fredericksburg, Va., with her husband and their children.

MARTHA ROBBINS holds the Joan Marshall Chair of Pastoral Care at PTS. She also is the director of Pneuma, a program that trains clergy and laity for the ministry of spiritual accompanist. A licensed clinical psychologist, she is a graduate of Maryville University (B.A.), St. Louis University (M.A.), and Harvard University (Th.D.). She co-founded the Spirituality and Psychology Program and the Certificate Program in Spiritual Formation within PTS’s Continuing Education Department. She has published poems, articles, book chapters, and a book, Midlife Women and Death of Mother: A Study of Psychosocial and Spiritual Transformation. She authored a CD series, Guided Meditations on Sacred Scripture. In 2010, she was named one of USA Today’s Top 100 People of the Year for her influence on pop culture and was featured in the documentary by MTV News producer/V rack Joanne Benjamin-Wagner entitled “Mister Rogers & Me.” She holds a master’s degree in counseling psychology and a bachelor’s degree in English. Amy lives in Fredericksburg, Va., with her husband and their children.

JUDITH A. RUBIN is President of Expressive Media Inc., a nonprofit providing therapeutic arts films and training events for educators and mental health professionals. A licensed psychologist and board-certified art therapist, she studied at Wellesley (B.A.), Harvard (M.Ed.), the University of Pittsburgh (Ph.D.), and trained in adult and child analysis at the Pittsburgh Psychoanalytic Institute.

HEDDA SHARAPAN is President of Early Childhood Initiatives and Associate Director of Public Relations of The Fred Rogers Company, who holds a B.S. in psychology (Carnegie Mellon University) and an M.S. in child development (University of Pittsburgh), a researcher for communicating Fred Rogers’ philosophy through developing workshops, writing, and speaking.

KAREN VANDE VEN is Professor Emerita of Psychology at Allegheny College and a critical friend of Dr. Fred Rogers. Her research focuses on adolescence as a transitional period of change and maturation in aspects of social and emotional functioning, as well as self-identity development. Her studies seek to identify opportunities for interventions to influence developmental changes in the social and emotional brain during adolescence to promote positive growth and development.

CARL JOHNSON is Chair of the Department of Psychology in Education and coordinates the program in applied developmental psychology at the University of Pittsburgh. Having long investigated children’s concepts of mind and body, Dr. Johnson has recently turned his attention to the development of religious and spiritual concepts like “soul” and “spirit.”

DANA L. MCMANIN is Assistant Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Pittsburgh, School of Medicine. Her research focuses on adolescence as a transitional period of change and maturation in aspects of social and emotional functioning, as well as self-identity development. Her studies seek to identify opportunities for interventions to influence developmental changes in the social and emotional brain during adolescence to promote positive growth and development.

JUDITH A. RUBIN is President of Expressive Media Inc., a nonprofit providing therapeutic arts films and training events for educators and mental health professionals. A licensed psychologist and board-certified art therapist, she studied at Wellesley (B.A.), Harvard (M.Ed.), the University of Pittsburgh (Ph.D.), and trained in adult and child analysis at the Pittsburgh Psychoanalytic Institute.

HEDDA SHARAPAN is President of Early Childhood Initiatives and Associate Director of Public Relations of The Fred Rogers Company, who holds a B.S. in psychology (Carnegie Mellon University) and an M.S. in child development (University of Pittsburgh), a researcher for communicating Fred Rogers’ philosophy through developing workshops, writing, and speaking.

KAREN VANDE VEN is Professor Emerita of Psychology at Allegheny College and a critical friend of Dr. Fred Rogers. Her research focuses on adolescence as a transitional period of change and maturation in aspects of social and emotional functioning, as well as self-identity development. Her studies seek to identify opportunities for interventions to influence developmental changes in the social and emotional brain during adolescence to promote positive growth and development.

CARL JOHNSON is Chair of the Department of Psychology in Education and coordinates the program in applied developmental psychology at the University of Pittsburgh. Having long investigated children’s concepts of mind and body, Dr. Johnson has recently turned his attention to the development of religious and spiritual concepts like “soul” and “spirit.”

DANA L. MCMANIN is Assistant Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Pittsburgh, School of Medicine. Her research focuses on adolescence as a transitional period of change and maturation in aspects of social and emotional functioning, as well as self-identity development. Her studies seek to identify opportunities for interventions to influence developmental changes in the social and emotional brain during adolescence to promote positive growth and development.

JUDITH A. RUBIN is President of Expressive Media Inc., a nonprofit providing therapeutic arts films and training events for educators and mental health professionals. A licensed psychologist and board-certified art therapist, she studied at Wellesley (B.A.), Harvard (M.Ed.), the University of Pittsburgh (Ph.D.), and trained in adult and child analysis at the Pittsburgh Psychoanalytic Institute.

HEDDA SHARAPAN is President of Early Childhood Initiatives and Associate Director of Public Relations of The Fred Rogers Company, who holds a B.S. in psychology (Carnegie Mellon University) and an M.S. in child development (University of Pittsburgh), a researcher for communicating Fred Rogers’ philosophy through developing workshops, writing, and speaking.

KAREN VANDE VEN is Professor Emerita of Psychology at Allegheny College and a critical friend of Dr. Fred Rogers. Her research focuses on adolescence as a transitional period of change and maturation in aspects of social and emotional functioning, as well as self-identity development. Her studies seek to identify opportunities for interventions to influence developmental changes in the social and emotional brain during adolescence to promote positive growth and development.

CARL JOHNSON is Chair of the Department of Psychology in Education and coordinates the program in applied developmental psychology at the University of Pittsburgh. Having long investigated children’s concepts of mind and body, Dr. Johnson has recently turned his attention to the development of religious and spiritual concepts like “soul” and “spirit.”

DANA L. MCMANIN is Assistant Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Pittsburgh, School of Medicine. Her research focuses on adolescence as a transitional period of change and maturation in aspects of social and emotional functioning, as well as self-identity development. Her studies seek to identify opportunities for interventions to influence developmental changes in the social and emotional brain during adolescence to promote positive growth and development.

JUDITH A. RUBIN is President of Expressive Media Inc., a nonprofit providing therapeutic arts films and training events for educators and mental health professionals. A licensed psychologist and board-certified art therapist, she studied at Wellesley (B.A.), Harvard (M.Ed.), the University of Pittsburgh (Ph.D.), and trained in adult and child analysis at the Pittsburgh Psychoanalytic Institute.

HEDDA SHARAPAN is President of Early Childhood Initiatives and Associate Director of Public Relations of The Fred Rogers Company, who holds a B.S. in psychology (Carnegie Mellon University) and an M.S. in child development (University of Pittsburgh), a researcher for communicating Fred Rogers’ philosophy through developing workshops, writing, and speaking.

KAREN VANDE VEN is Professor Emerita of Psychology at Allegheny College and a critical friend of Dr. Fred Rogers. Her research focuses on adolescence as a transitional period of change and maturation in aspects of social and emotional functioning, as well as self-identity development. Her studies seek to identify opportunities for interventions to influence developmental changes in the social and emotional brain during adolescence to promote positive growth and development.

CARL JOHNSON is Chair of the Department of Psychology in Education and coordinates the program in applied developmental psychology at the University of Pittsburgh. Having long investigated children’s concepts of mind and body, Dr. Johnson has recently turned his attention to the development of religious and spiritual concepts like “soul” and “spirit.”

DANA L. MCMANIN is Assistant Professor of Psychiatry at the University of Pittsburgh, School of Medicine. Her research focuses on adolescence as a transitional period of change and maturation in aspects of social and emotional functioning, as well as self-identity development. Her studies seek to identify opportunities for interventions to influence developmental changes in the social and emotional brain during adolescence to promote positive growth and development.

In 1942 Dr. Hugh Thomson Kirk, pastor of The Shadyside Presbyterian Church, and Elder James C. was concerned the idea of providing a low-cost residential program of continuing education for psychologists. PTS maintains responsibility for this program and its contents.

Psychologists
Pittsburgh Theological Seminary is approved by the American Psychological Association to sponsor continuing education for psychologists. PTS maintains responsibility for this program and its contents.

Social Workers, Marriage and Family Therapists, and Professional Counselors
You can receive CE credits from providers approved by APA. Since PTS is approved by APA to sponsor continuing education for psychologists, licensed social workers, licensed marriage and family therapists, and licensed professional counselors will be able to apply course credits toward their CE requirements.

HOUSING
Register early to assure housing on campus, as availability is limited. On-campus housing is full, reservations for the conference will still be accepted and we will refer you to nearby hotels.

Cancellation Policy

FEES FOR PARTICIPANTS
(Groups should submit a form for each person attending.)

SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

WORSHIP THEME
Our worship this week will be built upon the Servant Songs of Second Isaiah, propelling that Mister Rogers’ ministry of love and meekness exemplified the way of the Servant.

SUMMER Leadership Conference
In 1942 Dr. Hugh Thomson Kirk, pastor of The Shadyside Presbyterian Church, and Elder James C. was concerned the idea of providing a low-cost residential program of continuing education for psychologists. PTS maintains responsibility for this program and its contents.

REGISTRATION
Online: www.pts.edu/CE_Registration
Phone: 412-924-1345 or ConEd@pts.edu
Mail: Pittsburgh Theological Seminary
616 North Highland Avenue
Pittsburgh, PA 15206

FEES FOR PARTICIPANTS
(circle relevant items below; all meals included)

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Group</th>
<th>Early (April 1)</th>
<th>Regular (by May 15)</th>
<th>Later (May 16+)</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Individual</td>
<td>$120</td>
<td>$145</td>
<td>$160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Group: 3-4</td>
<td>$110</td>
<td>$135</td>
<td>$150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Group: 5+</td>
<td>$105</td>
<td>$130</td>
<td>$145</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>One day or lunch</td>
<td>$70 (lunch only)</td>
<td>Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Campus Housing</td>
<td>$130</td>
<td></td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Questions
412-924-1345 or ConEd@pts.edu

The Seminary wishes to thank The Fred Rogers Company for permission to use the photo of Mr. Rogers for this program.