

Guidelines for Events in Barbour Library

These guidelines are intended primarily for events that use spaces and/or furniture outside of the reservable rooms in 25Live, as well as events that use several library spaces at once.

Things to Keep in Mind

- Activity at the front desk will occur if events take place during library hours. As a result, library staff and library user conversations at the front desk and elsewhere may be fairly noisy. Library staff and library users will not (and should not) be asked to speak quietly. For events with speakers in the Kelley-Orr Lounge or Second Floor Atrium, microphone setup is encouraged.
- The Kelley-Orr Lounge and the Second Floor Atrium aren't closed spaces, so events in these areas should be clearly marked via signage from your department or the library. Placement of signage should be coordinated with library staff.
- Any meetings or events that use spaces other than Meeting Room 105 or the Kelley-Orr Lounge (which are both in the 24/7 space) should be scheduled during the hours that the library is open (<https://www.pts.edu/barbour-library/Library-Hours>).
- In addition to when the library is closed, events in the library should be not be planned during the following times:
 - Ordination and Bible content exams
 - Mid-term reading weeks
 - Reading/Final exam weeks

1. Reserve Your Space in 25Live

- Rooms in 25Live
 - Group Study Rooms (2nd floor, 6 seats, 3 folding chairs can be added) – reservable for one-time or recurring meetings
 - Kunkle Room (2nd floor, 10 seats, 3 folding chairs can be added) – reservable for one-time or recurring meetings
 - Meeting Room 105 (1st floor, 10 seats, 3 folding chairs can be added) – reservable for one-time or recurring meetings
 - Garnet Integrative Learning Space (Grnd floor, 10 seats, 3 folding chairs can be added) – reservable for one-time or recurring meetings
 - Truxall Classroom (2nd floor, 15 seats, 3 folding chairs can be added) – reservable for one-time or recurring meetings
 - Second Floor Atrium (2nd floor, 16 table seats/6 desk seats, folding chairs can be added for a total of 40 chairs in the space) – reservable for one-time events only, and for groups of no less than 10 people
 - Kelley-Orr Lounge (1st floor, 9 seats, folding chairs can be added, extending into the lobby) – reservable for one-time events only, and for groups of no less than 10 people
 - Hansen Room (2nd floor, 14 seats, 6 folding chairs can be added) – this space houses the Karl Barth desk, so is not appropriate for events with food or uncovered drinks

(until some sort of cover for the desk is obtained), and is reservable for one-time or recurring meetings

- Rooms that aren't reservable and/or aren't generally available for events (speak with library staff – exceptions may be made on a case-by-case basis)
 - Peters Café
 - Griffith Lounge
 - Computer Lab
 - Fred Rogers Family Room
 - Closed carrels
 - Special Collections Research Room
 - Active Learning Space

2. Arrange Space Setup and Furniture Use

- There are a few space/furniture configurations in select spaces to choose from while making your reservation in 25Live (see below). If none of these are adequate, please discuss alternate plans with the User Services Librarian (Tisha Woo). The number of people/seats is in parentheses.
 - Hansen Room layout options:
 - As-Is (14)
The furniture will not be moved, and no additional seating will be added.
 - Custom setup: contact User Services Librarian (18)
Furniture can be moved and up to four folding chairs can be added in collaboration with the User Services Librarian.
 - Kelley-Orr Lounge layout options:
 - As-Is (9)
The furniture will not be moved, and no additional seating will be added.
 - Speaker setup / small (15)
Furniture will be rearranged and up to six folding chairs will be added.
 - Speaker setup / large (50)
Furniture will be rearranged and rows of folding chairs will be added into the lobby area.
 - Custom setup: contact User Services Librarian (50)
Furniture can be moved and up to 50 folding chairs can be added in collaboration with the User Services Librarian.
 - Second Floor Atrium layout options:
 - As-Is (22)
The furniture will not be moved, and no additional seating will be added.
 - Speaker setup (40)
No library furniture will be used. Four rows of 10 folding chairs will be added.
 - Round setup (16)
The four round tables (each with four chairs) will be used. The six desks and corresponding chairs can be used or removed. One additional round table and corresponding folding chairs may be added – contact facilities to add these.

- Custom setup: contact User Services Librarian (40)

Furniture can be moved and up to 40 folding chairs can be added in collaboration with the User Services Librarian.

- There is a variety of furniture in the library – not all of it is meant to be moved on a regular basis. In the interest of keeping the furniture in the best condition for the longest amount of time, check with the User Services Librarian before requesting that furniture be moved. The exception to this would be chairs with casters, like the ones in the Truxall Classroom (though, the tables shouldn't be moved since they're linked together), the Kunkle Room, Meeting Room 105, and the computer lab. If furniture is moved, arrangements should be made to move it back to its original position. Moving other library furniture is possible, but should be coordinated with the User Services Librarian, who will work with facilities staff.
- With the exception of the credenzas in the Truxall Classroom, the Kunkle Room, and Meeting Room 105, folding tables should be brought in for food setups. Please do not use library desks, tables, or other furniture unless you have coordinated with the User Services Librarian.
- The round tables (and the accompanying chairs) in the 2nd Floor Atrium may be used for events with food and/or drink, but must be covered by tablecloths. You may use your own, or ask to use the ones that the library has.

3. Think About Food

- In general, meetings with meals should make use of the Kunkle Room, Meeting Room 105, or the Truxall Classroom as much as possible. Food setups are allowed in the Second Floor Atrium and Kelley-Orr Lounge for events, but should be coordinated with the User Services Librarian.
- If possible, use the floor space without carpet for food setups (such as the space between the Fred Rogers Family Room and the Truxall Classroom). If food setups will be on carpeted areas, please do not put food close to or among the book stacks. The User Services Librarian will be happy to talk with you about this.
- If your event has food brought into the library, you must make arrangements to remove anything that is left over after the event (food, supplies, etc.). If you would like library users to have any leftover food, please put it in the Peters Café and notify front desk staff. Please bring your own supplies, including tablecloths, utensils, napkins, etc. – do not use items from the Peters Café.

4. Meet with Library Staff for First-Time Events

In order to clearly communicate your event plans, and to discuss all the options and possibilities, set up a meeting to talk with the User Services Librarian. You can discuss the best options for furniture, food, and setup, and ask any questions you may have. The User Services Librarian will write up the details of your event and ask you to review it for accuracy. If you have the same or similar event in the future, a meeting is not necessary as long as the setup and event size are roughly the same.

5. Designate a Contact Person

Please designate a contact person for your event who will communicate with the User Services Librarian. If there are any changes to the plan discussed during the walkthrough, this must be communicated to the User Services Librarian. Likewise, if the User Services Librarian has any questions or has questions about how things are being set up, she will communicate with the contact person.

6. Arrange Signage

Please arrange any signage for your event with the User Services Librarian, including placement. In general, signs should not be attached anywhere in the library with tape or other materials. You may use your own sign holders, or ask library staff to use one of our free-standing or desktop sign holders.

7. Give Feedback

If you'd like to debrief your event, ask questions, or provide suggestions for future events, the User Services Librarian would be happy to speak with you.
