HYBRID DEGREE PROGRAMS

YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD SEMINARY

Stay in your community while being formed in ours--experience an accredited, high-quality seminary program in a way that suits your schedule.

Join Pittsburgh Theological Seminary through our hybrid seminary master's degree programs that flexibly combine weekly online courses and in-person gatherings each semester on our campus. We offer the master of divinity (M.Div.), master of theological studies, master of arts in pastoral studies, and joint seminary degrees in hybrid format.

FLEXIBLE ONLINE SEMINARY CLASSES AND ON-CAMPUS GATHERINGS

Our hybrid seminary degrees allow students maximum flexibility to study theology and ministry through both in-person and weekly synchronous online classes that integrate on-campus gatherings twice a semester. You can plan your schedule to fit your individual needs. Students desiring weekly in-person courses can opt for a more traditional residential program with fewer hybrid courses. Distance learners can complete their program by enrolling in only hybrid courses.

HYBRID LEARNING AT PTS

The Seminary's hybrid program balance two crucial assumptions: first, good theological education requires a community of engagement—one in which faculty and students have significant opportunities for interaction; diverse students can learn from each other; intellectual and pastoral skills are honed; and spiritual growth is supported through a variety of shared practices.

Second, for students enrolled at a distance—sometimes referred to as rooted learners—their home context is a primary site of student formation. Whether students plan to join us as a residential student, a mostly-remote learning, or a combination of the two, PTS is your neighborhood seminary, meaning you can immediately apply what you learn in your particular context instead of waiting until after graduation.

Pittsburgh: One seminary. Many neighborhoods.

HEAR FROM OUR STUDENTS

SARITA ROBINSON

I am an out-of-state student, and commuting several days a week is not practical (time, gas, wear and tear on vehicle, finding someone to look after loved ones). In the hybrid program, I get to be part of the online interaction and discussion with classmates and professors, and I get to be with them in person.

NAOMI JOHNSON

As a working mother who also happens to be an active member of a church ministry, and in the PTS community, the hybrid program helps with work-life-student balance.

JACQUELINE BOERSEMA

The hybrid program makes seminary feasible for students working full-time. Beyond that, it was the hospitality of the administrative staff, the intellect and care of the faculty, and the strong theological curriculum that made me know that PTS will equip me to pursue my vocational goals.
